FROM THE LUBBOCK SPORTSMAN'S CLUB BOARD OF DIRECTOR'S

Welcome to the 6th Annual Banquet of the Lubbock Sportsman's Club the first Chapter of Dallas Safari Club. We would like to thank each of you for making the effort to be here and support our mission "To conserve wildlife and wilderness lands; to educate youth and the general public and to promote and protect the rights and interests of hunters in the West Texas area and worldwide". The Banquet Committee has worked extremely hard to make this inaugural event something to remember by all in attendance. We have numerous donations from all over the world for tonight's event, and the proceeds earned will benefit many organizations in West Texas as well as across the world. These organizations lead the charge in protecting our ability to enjoy our passion for the outdoors and conservation efforts that will last generations ahead. Thank you again for attending tonight's banquet, and we appreciate every donation is made to the wonderful causes we support.

About our Hunts & Trips at Tonight's Banquet

Each hunt and trip that will be offered tonight are of top quality, and are the same type of experience you would receive if you were to buy directly from the outfitter that donated the item. There are many reasons why these donors offer organizations like Lubbock Sportsman's Club these hunts. Their motivation could range from exposure of their operation, upgrades by winning bidders to additional days and/or animals; but the primary reason is to help get the message of conservation out to the public through events like tonight's banquet. Each donor makes their living off the outdoors and recognizes that organizations like Lubbock Sportsman's Club & DSC are instrumental in sustaining conservation measures and hunting in today's world. All items offered tonight are not a 100% donation to our club, some carry a reserve amount that must be paid back to the donor, or some have a percentage split between the donor and the club. The important thing to remember is many of these outfitters have been used by members of our chapter and we know can confirm their quality and value. Those that we have not had a personal experience with come highly recommended. This information is being communicated so that you may bid with the utmost confidence in the item you are interested in.

Thank you again for supporting our Lubbock Sportsman's Club Annual Banquet, we hope you have a wonderful evening, and please bid generously.

Sincerely,

Tim Gafford

IN ALL-TERRAIN WHEELCHAIR, 'FREEDOM' TO HUNT, FISH

BY MARJIE DUCKY
WORLD-HERALD STAFF WRITER

Cade Atkinson loves the outdoors.

Nothing beats hunting and fishing with dad Brent and grandpa Dee. The Gothenburg farm boy has a flock of chickens and a garden to care for, too.

But the 11-year-old was grounded in rainy or snowy weather. The scooter he's used since he was diagnosed with Duchenne muscular dystrophy nearly three years ago couldn't make it through the ruts and muck.

"He started getting left behind," said Corey Goss, the president and founder of Heartland DSC, a local chapter of the Dallas Safari Club.

The club focuses on connecting kids with the outdoors. That was becoming a challenge for Cade, who is unable to walk and has some problems with his grip.

After Goss heard about Cade's situation, he contacted an outfitter in New Mexico, who donated a hunt for Cade and his family.

Cade got to use the Nebraska group's all-terrain wheelchair, an Action Trackchair. It took the club two years to raise the $18,000 for the wheelchair, which is available to any child who needs help to get around in the outdoors.

For three weekends in a row, the group took Cade fishing and shooting so he could learn how the chair worked ahead of the October trip. For that trip, he didn't have to worry about being left behind.

"It was just unreal. A once-in-a-lifetime opportunity," said Cade's mom, Lynnette. "He got a big bull elk on that hunt. To know he helped provide the meat, he feels like he gets to contribute something to our family."

The only problem - Cade went back home to his scooter and the same obstacles. The family, which includes 14-year-old Cole, would drive their pickup as close

GETTING OUTSIDE

More and more public waters in the state are becoming handicap accessible.

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission's 2020 fishing guide lists Nebraska's public waters and each one with an A has accessible fishing. Any time an area is rehabilitated, handicap accessibility is included in some form.

"It's more in the urban areas," fisheries outreach coordinator Daryl Bauer says, "but we've got them around the state."

Game and Parks also works with hunters with disabilities.

"We do our best to make hunting accessible for everyone," said Jeff Rawlinson, assistant division administrator for communications. He said interested parties should contact the district office where they live or want access in, and the district biologist there will work with them.

Heartland DSC offers its Action Trackchair to any organization or individual that has a youth who wants to experience the outdoors. Go to heartlanddsc.com or call 402-690-3691.

as possible on hunts this fall, then carry the 85-pound Cade to the blind.

He harvested his first goose just a few weeks ago.

But Goss couldn't stand the idea of Cade not being able to do what he loves while struggling with the effects of the progressive disease, which has no cure.

"The kid is so passionate about being in the outdoors," he said.

So the club's board tried to figure out how they could buy Cade a chair of his own. While it had taken the group two years to raise the funds for its wheelchair, fundraising for Cade's chair took just four months. Silent Ability, K.C. Heating and Air, the Gibson Family and DSC chapters in New Mexico, South Texas, the Texas Panhandle and Lubbock were all major contributors.

They surprised Cade, a sixth-grader at Gothenburg Elementary, with the chair at the group's third annual banquet Saturday night at the Scott Conference Center at the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

He was watching a video about his hunt on big screens at the banquet when his brother tapped him on the shoulder. Board member Melissa Brown was driving the new chair over to their table. Cade was thrilled.

"It's going to be amazing for me to go outside even if it's snowy or muddy," Cade said. "It's going to help with hunting."

When they got back to the farm, Cade could hardly wait for the chair to be unloaded. As soon as it was, he did his chicken chores, checked the mail and watered the cows across the road.

Pretty cool, he says. Mom Lynnette agrees.

"How do you ever thank someone enough when they provide your child with freedom and independence that you can't provide?" she asked.

TO: Lubbock Sportsman's Club Inc.
Dallas Safari Club Chapter

It is an honor to congratulate the Lubbock Sportsman's Club on enjoying another year of growth and success. It is important that traditional values of hunting, conservation and being the stewards of God's creation are preserved. It is more important than ever for organizations such as this to be successful, and the value that has been added by being affiliated with the Dallas Safari Club Chapter is remarkable.

The efforts to educate youth and the general public are commendable, and we certainly stand with you all in your ongoing efforts to protect our rights as hunters and outdoorsmen. The impact the Lubbock Sportsman's Club has made on your community is admirable.

In the 85th Legislative Session, I authored and passed Senate Bill 720, which provided the Parks and Wildlife commission the latitude to amend carcass processing requirements and the definition of final destination in the event such a change is needed to mitigate disease risk. Most importantly, the legislation provides hunters more flexibility to leave certain carcass parts in the area where the deer was harvested, and allows out of state hunters to transfer carcasses to their home state. This flexibility should promote an increase in the hunting population in Texas, furthering the economic success of this great Texas industry.

If I can be of any assistance to the Lubbock Sportsman's Club please do not hesitate contacting me at 512.463.0340. I look forward to continuing to work with you, and support your hard work in maintaining our great state!

“WE THREE KINGS II”

John Banovich

There is an old African proverb that says “An elephant never tires of carrying its tusks.” I say the author must never have met the elephant tasked with carrying the world record tusks which weighed over 120 kilograms. Man has had a fascination with this “White Gold” for centuries. Used in everything from billiard balls, piano keys and other expressions of exotic wealth, the legal sale of ivory was banned worldwide at the 1990 CITES meeting. Unfortunately, the ban resulted in illegal ivory being much more exploited and expensive, hitting its peak in 2014 selling at $2,100 per kilogram. Today, we are losing approximately one elephant every 15 minutes to poaching. According to the Great Elephant Census, there are only 352,000 elephants, thus pushing the world’s largest land mammal to the brink of extinction in many ecosystems.

Happily, Botswana today boasts the largest population for savannah Elephants in Africa. In my depiction of “We Three Kings II,” I wanted to show these three old bulls in their prime - kings of their domain - as they make their way towards the clean, cool water of the Okavango Delta after the seasonal floods. Deep in the heart of the Kalahari Desert, Botswana’s Okavango Delta offers one of the last great vestiges of wilderness on earth. Rainwater from the mountains in Angola travels over two thousand miles before ending in a network of rivers, streams, swamps, and lagoons, creating the world’s largest inland delta. Legend says the Okavango is the Bible’s “Garden of Eden” - to these three kings, it might just be!

In today’s world, it is rare to come upon an elephant skull that is fully intact, with no bullet holes from poachers and the tusks still where they belong. I was very lucky and found one in thick brush that had not been touched as far as I could tell by human hands. What a treat it was!

I decided right then I wanted to do a sculpture of it as I had found it. I took some photos and did several sketches before leaving it as I had found it.

I have no idea what had happened; but from my observation, he was not old when he died. I do hope it is still there in peace.

LIVE AUCTION ITEM #30

PREDATOR CALLING HUNT

Gary Roberson and Larry Weishuhn

Predator calling legend Gary Roberson, with Burnham Brothers Game Calls, and Larry Weishuhn invite one hunter on a 2 ½ days predator calling hunt in New Mexico during the Winter of 2022, with mutually agreeable dates. Gary Roberson recently developed an electronic call which actually duplicates the ultrasonic sounds of distressed prey, heard by coyotes and bobcats. All other electronic calls can only produce sounds up to 20,000 Hertz, the new patented Burnham Brothers call takes sounds to upwards of 45-47,000 Hertz.

Parts of the hunt may be filmed for Roberson's "Carnivore" television show, the highest rated show on the Pursuit Channel. Weishuhn will write articles and blogs about the hunt, as well as record an episode with the buyer for his "DSC's Campfires with Larry Weishuhn" podcast.

Meals and lodging, as well as travel between sites while on the hunt, will be provided by Roberson and/or Weishuhn. Buyer is responsible for getting to and from the hunt site (which will be named later, based on where the best coyote populations can be found at the time) and procuring a New Mexico hunting license. If desired, Weishuhn/Roberson can provide firearms and ammo while on the hunt.

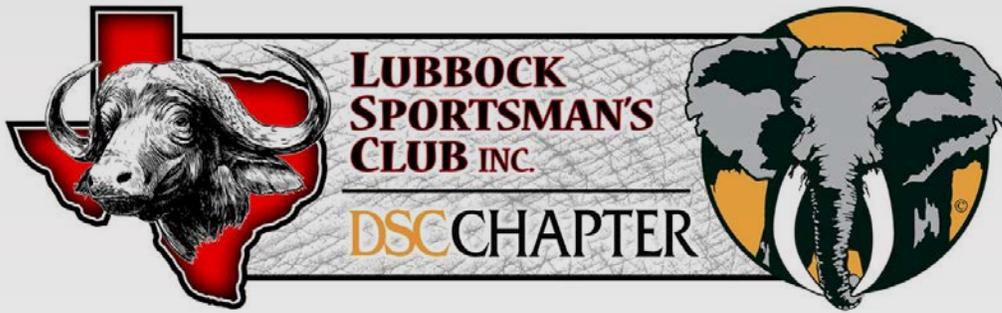

Donation compliments of Gary Roberson, Burnham Brothers Game Calls and Larry Weishuhn Outdoors.
